Product Description

Road raller trailer

The road roller trailer is a heavy-duty towing transport equipment specially designed for construction engineering scenes. The core is adapted to the transfer transportation of all kinds of tonnage roller and engineering compaction machinery. With its high-strength structure, stable traction performance, and convenient operation design, it solves the problem of long-distance transfer of construction machinery and helps to promote the project efficiently. It can be compatible with single steel wheel, double steel wheel, tire-type and other types of roller, and at the same time, it can transport small loaders, levelers and other engineering equipment, meeting the needs of road construction, municipal engineering, airport construction and other scenarios.
