Product Description

Super Long Frame Tiny House Trailers 8 Ton Skeleton Trailer

The house trailer is a new type of travel equipment that integrates the comfort of living and the convenience of mobility, with high-strength steel structure as the core of the chassis. With the combination of lightweight environmental protection board and modular living space design, it not only has the functional integrity of traditional housing, but also has the flexible mobility of a trailer, providing a one-stop living solution for scenarios such as travel, camping, temporary office, emergency resettlement, etc.

The chassis adopts mechanical optimization design, equipped with high load-bearing wear-resistant tires and stable traction system, suitable for highway long-distance transportation and camp short-distance mobility, smooth turning and easy traction, can be flexibly matched with household cars and special traction vehicles; The car frame is treated with anti-rust and anti-corrosion, combined with waterproof sealing technology and anti-shock and anti-vibration structure, which can resist outdoor wind and rain erosion and road bumps, ensuring the stability and durability of living space.
